The Matthews-Foster Letters.

John Young Brown on the Foster-Matthews Letters.

LOUISVILLE, March 23.—To-morrow the Courier-Journal will publish the letters of Hon. Chas. Foster and Stanley Matthews, addressed to Hon. John B. Gordon and John Young Brown, who says the circumstances attending their origin are in brief as follows: On the 26th of February last I sent a page from the House of Representatives to the Senate Chamber for my distinguished friend, Gen. Gordon, and he came over in a few moments. I told him I wanted an interview with Hon. Chas. Foster, at which I desired his presence. I outlined to General Gordon what I intended to say to Foster, and he said he would with pleasure accompany me. We found Foster in the room of the committee on appropriations. No one else was present during the interview. I told Foster I had, as he knew, been working against all dilatory motions, and had in a speech advocated the inflexible execution of the electoral bill; had stated in the Democratic caucus that I would so vote if I were the only man from the South to do so; that the vote was approved by my judgment; that I felt under obligations of honor to stand by the result, bitter as it was, feeling that the situation was not chargeable to the electoral bill, but to a majority of the commission, whom we had agreed to trust. I told him I had received dispatches and letters from cherished and trusted friends, conveying Hayes' policy as to the status of certain of the Southern States was discussed, we desire in reply to say that we can assure you in the strongest possible manner of our great desire to have adopted such a policy as will give the people of the States of South Carolina and Louisiana the right to control their own affairs in their own way, and to say further that we feel authorized from the acquaintance and knowledge of Governor Hayes, and his views in this question, to pledge ourselves to you for him that such will be his policy.

CHARLES FOSTER.

To Hon. John Young Brown and Hon. John B. Gordon.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 27, 1877.

GENTLEMEN: Referring to the conversation with you yesterday, in which Gov. Hayes' policy as to the status of certain Southern States was discussed, we desire to say we can assure you, in the strongest possible manner, of our great desire to have him adopt such a policy as will give the people of South Carolina and Louisiana the right to control their own affairs in their own way, subject only to the constitution of the United States and laws made in pursuance thereof; and to say futher that from our acquaintance and knowledge of Gov. Hayes and his views, we have the most complete confidence that such will be the policy of his administration.

STANLEY MATTHEWS,
CHAS. FOSTER.

A Posthumous Document.

CHICAGO, March 28.—The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says: Fernando Wood is said to have in his possession an agreement signed by 35 Democrats who pledged themselves to vote for Hayes in case the election would have nothing to do or say to Packard. Foster said he would, but he was afraid to take too much on himself to say that, but Mr. Matthews reiterated his desire that Foster should say so plumply, and further said, if I were to speak about say it because it is the truth. Foster further said he did not see the mode by which Hayes could accomplish the practical recognition of Nicholls as Governor. My informant replied: "Let him ask Nicholls if I withdraw the arms and gunboats, will you assure me that you will not establish your government by bloodshed and by bloody retaliation, and if Nicholls makes a pledge, let him withdraw them." Now, Ellis, this is the first thing I have ever heard as coming from Hayes, directly or indirectly, that is worth acting upon by any Southern man. We don't want office, but we do want to get our States and people free from carpet-bag governments. Ought you not, if an available opportunity offers to serve your people, to bring forward at once and see if you cant free your State? I think you should at once see Mr. Stanley Matthews and ask him if Gov. Hayes will give him some assurance that he will not maintain Packard in his dominion over your people.

Your friend, L. Q. C. LAMAR.

JNO. ELLIS, Representative of Louisiana.

Beginning of Negotiations.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Wade Hampton, Senator Gordon and Attorney-General Conner called upon the President at the appointed time and lunched with him at 2 o'clock. The conference is expected to be long.

Gov. Hampton accompanies by Senator Gordon, of Georgia, and Attorney Gen. Conner, of South Carolina, had an interview with the President this afternoon. The conversation was of free and general character. It related principally to the question as to the probable condition of the State in case the troops should be withdrawn. The points urged by Gov. Hampton and his friends were as follows: First, there is an imperative necessity for speedy action, as the planting interests of South Carolina are in an attitude of absolute danger of destruction by reason of

His Account of the Mountain Meadows Massacre.

The Decree of Extermination.

HE SAYS HE WAS "A WEAK AND TOO PLIABLE TOOL;" THAT HIS AUTOBIOGRAPHY WILL OPEN THE EYES OF THE WORLD TO THE MONSTROUS DEEDS OF MORMON LEADERS.

[From the San Francisco Call.]

The Execution.

CEDAR CITY, March 23.—The execution of Lee occurred within about 20 yards of the spot where twenty years ago he decoyed the emigrants out, and about the same distance from the monument. About 100 persons witnessed the execution. United States Marshal Nelson and posses arrived at the Meadows about 8 o'clock last night from Beaver with three governmen wagons containing a squad of twenty-two soldiers from Camp Cameron, and commanded by Lieutenant Patterson. On the first night out a march of seventy miles was made, from Beaver to Leech's, and came into camp about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Lee ate a hearty breakfast, smoked, and rolled himself in his blanket under a cedar tree and slept soundly until about 1 o'clock.

HIS MANNER WAS COOL AND COLLECTED.

And he either failed to realize or was indifferent to the terrible fate so soon awaiting him. On the trip for the first time he confessed to the slaying of five emigrants. He spoke with hot or them. After pausing for a short time he said to me, "Brother Lee, what do you think the brethren would do if a company of emigrants should come down through here making threats? Don't you think they would pitch into them?" I replied that "they certainly would." This seemed to please him, and he again said to me, "And you really think that the brethren would pitch into them?" "I certainly do," was my reply, "and you had better summon Colonel Lame and Haight to tend to it that the emigrants are permitted to pass if you want them to pass unmolested." He continued: "I asked Isaac (meaning Haight) the same question, and he answered me just as you do, and I expect the boys would pitch into them." I again said to him that he had better say to Governor Young that if he wants emigrant companies to pass without molestation that he must instruct Colonel Dame or Major Haight to that effect; for if they are not ordered otherwise they will use them up by the help of the Indians.

ANTICIPATION OF TROUBLE WITH THE U.S. TROOPS.

He told the people at San Clara not to sell their grain to the emigrants nor to feed it to their animals, as they might expect a big fight the next spring with the United States. President Young did not intend to let the troops into the Territory. He said, "We are going to stand up for our rights and will no longer be imposed upon by our enemies, and want every man to be on hand with his gun in good order and his powder dry," and instructed the people to part with nothing that would sustain life.

THE LAST OBSTACLE.

Still the Louisiana ... South Carolina cases stand in the way of a complete establishment ... a policy of reconciliation in the S... But for the peculiar situation in which these State governments are placed, there would be no obstacle to a pacification such as would surely bring about a better state of feeling among the people, a more cheerful recognition of the rights of the lately enfranchised race, and more harmonious relations with the General Government. But in each of these States a contest, inspired, on one side at least, by no higher motives than personal ambition, and of which a decision either way would be better for the people than its continuation, rends society, and multiplies the difficulties of the President's position with reference to all the other branches of his duties. In every part of the country there is strong feeling on this matter, especially with regard to Louisiana. Party spirit is kept alive and party bitterness stimulated by it, not only in those States, but in every State, county and precinct in the Union.

If the local questions involved could be disposed of ... at directly. If there were nothing to do ... but find out which of the rival governments in those States respectively would, if established be most likely to promote the good order and the happiness of the people, it would be a comparatively simple matter. But such is not the case. The constitution, when it requires the President, in certain cases, to interfere for the purpose of ... the over-throw by violence of a State government, means of ... that this power shall be exercised only by consent of law, or at least, of ... government. And when the President is called upon for such aid in connection with the provisions of the Constitution he has no option. The Oakland Tribune demands that Congress send out an investigating committee, to make a treaty with the ground squirrels in that country, and if possible induce them to go on a reservation.

The amount of space we give to the confession of Lee, the Mountain Meadows murderer, shows it necessary to leave out a large amount of other matter.

Ordinance No. 1939.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows

Section 1. The improvement of Hall street, from the center of Front street to the center of Sixth street shall be complete as hereinafter provided on or before the 15th day of May, 1877.

Section 2. The surface of the street shall be cleared of all timber, plank or other obstructions (sidewalks and crosswalks of the proper width and grade and otherwise in good condition excepted.) If the obstructions are not removed within three days after notice from the Superintendent of Streets they shall be removed by and become the property of the contractor.

Section 3. The improvement shall consist of grading, laying sidewalks and crosswalks where necessary, or by raising and repairing the same.

Section 4. The grading, sidewalks and crosswalks shall correspond as nearly as practicable to the provisions of sections 6, 7, 8 and 9 of Ordinance No. 793, entitled "An Ordinance in relation to the improvement of streets."

Section 5. The provisions of sections 11 and 12 of said Ordinance No. 793, shall apply to all lumber and material used in the improvement provided for by this Ordinance.

Section 6. The contractor shall take entire charge of the work during its progress, and shall be responsible for any loss or accident resulting from carelessness or neglect.

Section 7. The improvement shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Committee on Streets and Public Property and the Superintendent of Streets.

Section 8. The Committee on Streets and Public Property are hereby authorized to advertise for, receive proposals and enter into contract with the owner responsible bidder or bidders for the improvement specified in this Ordinance.

CITY.

CITY OF CHESTER.—This new and commodious steamship, purchased last fall in New York by the Oregon Steamship Company, and concerning which so much has been said and written at various times, arrived safely at her wharf in this city yesterday morning about 10:30. Some time yesterday afternoon she took aboard a number of the long and tedious passage notes of the steamer between San Francisco and Portland. Saturday at 12:30 P. M. the City of Chester sailed from the Golden Gate and she did not accomplish the voyage until 10:30 A. M. Monday. Much making the run in 118 hours. Much a lowance should be made for the unusually protracted passage, when all the circumstances are considered, the Chester made a remarkable well. Coming from a very long voyage, of about 14,000 miles in length, it is to be supposed that her crews were in bad order, her machinery had been running for days almost consecutively, without interruption, and during the trip per overhauling, and during the trip per ... became badly foul. ... necessitating overhauling, ... stoppages which ... soon after ... which prevented her voyage to ... length. Chester will ... Saturday ... 115 in the cabin. ... for service ... Pacific coast. ... morning at 8 o'clock.

... ARREST.—A physician of this city was arrested yesterday, and also a young woman, on a warrant issued from Yamhill county, and taken to Lafayette. Both were charged with the commission of a crime, the nature of which we suppress mentioning for the present. As the grand jury is in session in that county, and the charge is in course of judicial examination, we forbear comment, further the names of the parties or even to ... the rumors in circulation concerning the matter.

A. L. SOCIETY.—At the quarterly meeting of the Alpha Literary Society, held Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing quarter; President, Oscar Heints; Vice President, Luella Carson; Recording Secretary, W. Simpson; Corresponding Secretary, O. I. Clay; Treasurer, C. A. Francis; Editor, N. Ingersoll; Sergeant-at-Arms, Alfred K. Holman.

PORTLAND, MARCH 30, 1877.

Steamer.—This new and commodious steamer, purchased last fall in New York by the Oregon Steamship Company, and which so much has been said and sung about, arrived safely at her wharf in this city this morning about 10:30. Some delay was occasioned on account of fog and tedious passage made between San Francisco and Portland. She left the City of the Golden City and she made the voyage until 10:30 A. M., making the run in 178 hours. Allowance should be made for the unexpected passage. Where [illegible] are considered, the Chester has done well. Coming from a very large vessel, about 14,000 miles in length, and that the vessel was in bad condition, machinery had been running consecutively, without rest, and during the trip her bottom was fouled with barnacles. When hauled, the steamer started [illegible] after reaching San Francisco, and [illegible] a large freight—about [illegible]—and a great many passengers leaving, one of her boilers exploded, which required a few hours. In this condition she was compelled to creep along at a snail's pace, protracted the voyage to an unusual length. After getting into the river, she was compelled to stop at various points to discharge freight. It is superfluous to say that the officers of the steamer, as her machinery, model and construction, and passenger accommodations are unpublished. She is every way as well as the Elder, but is not quite so large in respect to interior accommodations. Every accommodation is amply provided for the safety and pleasure of passengers. She has accommodations for 450 passengers, [illegible] the cabin. On her return to San Francisco she will be subjected to a thorough docking and cleaning, and on her next trip will be among the finest and most pleasant steamers to the Pacific coast. She will sail on Saturday at 8 o'clock.

Accident.—The little daughter of [illegible] aged about two years, was [illegible] this morning while coming to this city on the City of Chester, and after a short stay at Astoria, Wednesday morning of this occurrence, the passengers say: "The woman had her child with her, and possessed a large amount of gold. Of this amount a [illegible] expense were required, and the passengers, whose sympathies were with her friendless and impoverished condition, raised a purse of $30 by which they presented it to the grief-stricken woman, who was heartily grateful for the kindness of their generosity." The woman who was a passenger on the steamer Chester alluded to. The Oregonian certainly does thank the passengers in the above paragraph, for their professional services to the child. He was up almost night and day, doing everything in his power to relieve the little sufferings and to save her life, but all to no purpose. After the child's death, the father came to Dr. Angur and asked the charges were. He told him (the father) thought the Doctor would be perfectly satisfied if he would give him $5. Subsequently the poor man had only [illegible] earning the Dr. Angur offered to refund the money, which was refused readily to the Doctor. Angur) and earned [illegible] taken up among the passengers of the deceased child's family [illegible] The remains of the child were taken to this city for interment.

Assault.—Willie Reynard, a boy better or more commonly known in this community, has become entangled in the meshes of the law. Young Willie's cardinal [illegible] his constitutional inability to discover the difference between mine and thine. This failing is the source of all his tribulation. Yesterday, in the absence of Mr. Wilson, the [illegible] Portland, Willie entered by breaking a window, and [illegible] the premises when he was discovered by Mr. Wilson turned the young thief over to Officer Lawrence, who locked the chap up. To-day young Reynard will [illegible] examination before Judge Adams. A [illegible] the same manner at the gas [illegible] The robbers missed a lot of [illegible] other articles from their coat pockets, which were hanging up a little [illegible] where they were at work, and [illegible] was seen prowling about [illegible] to seek out the culprit. A [illegible] from the boy through kindness [illegible] have signally failed, and [illegible] given over to his own evil [illegible] He should be sent to the penitentiary or industrial school and taught [illegible] believe it seems to have become [illegible] with the boy, and it is [illegible] him to steal as to eat. A few [illegible] devoted to acquiring a [illegible] him to entirely overcome [illegible]

Matters.—Orders have been received [illegible] Walla Walla directing company [illegible] of the first cavalry to leave that [illegible] for the Wallowa [illegible] Lieut. W. H. Miller, who will act as [illegible] of the expedition has been sent to examine the roads over the Blue [illegible] Upon his return the date of the [illegible] troops will be fixed. It is [illegible] that three troops will establish a [illegible] post near the Wallowa valley, [illegible] detachments can be kept constantly [illegible] valley. It has not been decided [illegible] The post in Wallowa valley, being of the opinion that the [illegible] can be better afforded the [illegible] the post on one of the [illegible] to the valley. The two [illegible] number over 100 men, and will be [illegible] command of Captain J. G. Whipple, [illegible] who has had great experience [illegible] with Indians.

U. S. S.—From the [illegible] the attendance at the [illegible] Sunday School for the [illegible] March 25, 1877, averages as [illegible] and teachers, 39; scholars, [illegible] 28; total 228. Enrolled—[illegible] 48; scholars, (including [illegible] 294; primary class, [illegible] five officers are elected [illegible] over Sunday during [illegible] Quarter once; 4 absentees [illegible] three sessions.

Church Notice.—The Catholic [illegible] are deeply indebted to [illegible] the devoted Nun of [illegible] for a piece of genuine Irish shamrock [illegible] the 17th of March from the [illegible] County Kerry. It arrived on [illegible] in a fine state of preservation [illegible] thousands of miles by [illegible] the memory of Ireland [illegible] dear sister—like the [illegible] ever green in the memory of [illegible] and daughters."

Arrest.—A physician of this city [illegible] Monday, and also a young [illegible] warrant issued from Yamhill [illegible] taken to Lafayette. Both are [illegible] commission of a crime, the [illegible] As the grand jury is in session [illegible] and the charge is in course of [illegible] investigation, we forbear comment, [illegible] name of the parties or even to [illegible] publication in circulation, concerning [illegible]

Library.—At the quarterly meeting [illegible] Library Society, held Wednesday [illegible] following officers were elected [illegible] the ensuing quarter: President, Oscar [illegible]; Readers, Luella Carson; Recording Secretary, W. Simpson; Corresponding Secretary, Clay [illegible]; Treasurer, C. A. [illegible]; Librarian, N. Ingerwill; Sergeant-at-arms, [illegible] Holman.

A petition for reducing the Stark street ferry rates is being extensively circulated, and when a sufficient number of signatures have been obtained, will be placed before the county court.

Frank Fabre is in receipt of his brother's paper Galegnan's Messenger published in Paris in the English language. Frank has made a sensible exchange by sending in return the WEEKLY OREGONIAN for a year.

Rev. Dr. Geo. H. Atkinson united in matrimony, Wednesday evening, in this city, Hon. J. T. Cooke, of Linn county, and Mrs. Henshaw, of Portland. The festive groom is 70 years old and the happy bride 56.

The general overhauling which the interior of the Congregational church has been receiving for the past month, is near completion, and by the second Sabbath in April the congregation will be able to occupy their pews up stairs.

Mr. C. C. Hall, teacher of the public school of East Portland, gave a successful literary, musical and edible entertainment at Odd Fellow's hall Saturday last. The proceeds, about $40, will be spent mostly in the purchase of prizes for the encouragement of the pupils.

DROWNING OF CHARLES W. POPE.

Yesterday morning the sad news reached this city that Mr. Charles W. Pope, of Oregon City, had been drowned Wednesday afternoon in the Clackamas river, about twelve miles from its mouth. The particulars of this melancholy affair are substantially as follows: Wednesday morning proving very bright and beautiful, Mr. Pope, Louis Barin and George Harding concluded that they would spend the day in trout angling. Accordingly a skiff was obtained, and the trio, armed with the necessary tackle, started up the stream. Late heavy rains had swollen the Clackamas to a high stage, and the current proved swift and strong. The party rowed a considerable distance up the stream, stopping at intervals to fish. At length one of the party proposed to proceed to a certain point where it was thought better success would reward their labor. This was agreed to, and the party started at once. In passing around a bend in the stream, the current caught the skiff, and before it could be controlled, was thrown against a sharp snag. So powerful was the blow that the frail craft was broken in several places, and an instant later the three men were struggling in the water. They caught hold of a limb projecting from the water, but the current was very strong and the water as cold as ice. Realizing their imminent peril, the men shouted for assistance, but their voices were drowned by the rushing, roaring water. They knew that it would be impossible to hold on long to the limb, as chilliness and exhaustion would soon overpower them. It was proposed to divest themselves of their boots and coats, and attempt to reach the shore by swimming. This was done, and the three men committed themselves to the mercy of the treacherous waters. All three were expert swimmers. Despite their efforts, the swiftly flowing current bore them a long way down the stream. At length Barin and Harding managed to reach the bank, although in a state of complete exhaustion. Mr. Pope, after a long and desperate battle for his life, was forced to succumb. He was carried down and rose no more. As soon as possible, the survivors procured grappling hooks and ropes and began to drag the bed of the stream. Efforts were continued yesterday by a large number of persons, but the body of the unfortunate man had not been recovered at the latest accounts.

Mr. Pope was aged about 40 years. He has resided for many years in Oregon City, where he had acquired considerable wealth. For a number of years Mr. Pope was engaged in the steamboating business on the Upper Willamet. He was a widely known and universally respected citizen; of a genial and sociable nature, he made his acquaintances his friends, and the circle of the latter is as wide as the former. Many are the tears of deep regret that will be shed as the news of his untimely death spreads throughout the State. The bereaved wife and children have the heartfelt sympathy of all the community.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Capt. W. A. Hall and family will leave for the Eastern States shortly.

Mrs. J. M. Martin, of this city, is lying dangerously ill with the consumption.

Mrs. Mattie Cardwell is lying dangerously ill at the Commercial Hotel in this city.

We learn that Captain C. B. Crandall will return to Oregon during the ensuing month.

The Presbyterian church choir will render the Easter anthems on Sunday evening next.

The Capital Guards received about forty additional stand of arms to-day, and are preparing for the reception of a number of new recruits.

T. B. Odeneal, of Portland, is registered at the Chemeketa Hotel. We understand he is negotiating for the purchase of the St. Charles Hotel at Albany.

The academic base ball club has reorganized for the ensuing season. They made an excellent record last season, and will present a strong nine in the future.

Rev. J. H. Roork, the newly-appointed Indian agent at Klamath reservation, has filed his bonds, and only awaits the arrival of his commission to take possession.

The funeral of Hon. R. W. Wilson took place in this city on Tuesday last, the services at the grave being conducted by the Masons, a large number of whom participated in the ceremonies.

The graduating class of the Willamette University will be an unusually large one this year, numbering some twelve or fourteen students. The examinations are, we learn, about completed.

Wilbur F. Cornell, well and favorably known throughout the Willamette valley, will leave for San Francisco within a very few days. His many friends in this city and elsewhere wish him abundant success.

We understand that a billiard tournament is on the tapis, which is to take place at the Chemeketa Hotel billiard rooms within a short time. We have considerable talent in that line in the city and a lively time is anticipated.

Your readers will, we trust, recollect the fair and entertainment to be given at Reed's Opera House to-morrow (Friday) evening, by the Young Ladies' Industrial Society of the Congregational church. It promises to be a very pleasant affair, the literary and musical part being in competent hands. Let no one fail to attend.

The Salem minstrels drew a large audience on the occasion of their second appearance at Reed's Opera House on Tuesday evening last. Fred McAdams and John Chase made immense hits as end men, and Pete Emerson sustained well his part as clog dancer, assisted by the above named performers. Ed. Roland took well as a ballad singer and the entertainment gave general satisfaction throughout. The receipts amounted to about $100, which will be applied toward securing other plays, music, etc.

Another death occurred in this city yesterday morning of the diphtheria. Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Gillingham lost their youngest, "Eugenia," their baby daughter. They buried their little Louisa on Saturday last, and a third child lies ill with the same disease, although it is considered out of immediate danger. To add to the sadness of both deaths, the father was absent at San Francisco, and will return to-day, in time only to attend the funeral of their baby. A wide circle of friends sympathize with them deeply in this their double bereavement.

The Walla Walla Union has information that on the 23d instant, at Wallula, George Warner, an old and respected citizen of that section, had accidentally shot and killed himself the night before. It seems that he was out duck hunting and while in the act of taking his gun from the boat it was discharged. The whole charge entered at the chin and must have caused instant death. The deceased was about 50 years of age, and resided about two miles this side of Wallula, on a farm, where he was engaged in raising cattle and horses. He had resided there and at Wallula since 1864, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his sudden death.

To arrive to-day per steamer Chester, an immense invoice of the latest styles Spring clothing for J. Kohn, cor First and Morrison streets.

Birmingham, the practical upholsterer, 150 First street, attends to the upholstering of parlor suits, lounges, easy chairs, etc., in the very latest styles. Bed lounges spring, curled hair and moss mattresses, in fact everything pertaining to the business made to order and repaired at the very lowest prices for first class work. Satisfaction guaranteed in every particular or no charge.

We sell S. H. Kennedy's Hemlock Sheep Dip. The best and cheapest dip known, and will send a valuable book to sheep owners free on application. J. McCRAKEN & CO. Portland, Oregon.

Why is a mad bull an animal of convivial disposition? Because he offers a horn to every one he meets. If the horn is Noble Whisky, no one will buck against it.

Cosmetic gloves for making the hands soft, white and beautiful; to be worn at night. Sent to any address on receipt of $2 50; mention size of glove usually worn. Ladies can have cold gloves prepared for $1. Address Mrs. S. Lord, First street, next door to Oak, Portland.

Captains and pilots will note the fact that Peter Wilhelm has fitted up two rooms for their especial use at the Fountain, corner Ash and First streets. Number of English papers on file, including the London Daily Shipping and Mercantile Gazette.

Till then chronic diseases of men and women will be treated in Portland as usual. An accomplished lady assistant to give baths to ladies and assist in their treatment always in the office.

HEMORRHOIDS OR PILES.

Dr. T. F. Wightman, the originator and proprietor of the "Wightman Process" for the cure of Piles, blind or bleeding, is at present in San Francisco, California, where all letters should be addressed. Persons desiring the "process" can have it sent C. O. D. by express. The success that Dr. T. F. Wightman had a year since in Oregon in curing the diseases of the rectum will be his recommendation. I refer to the following patients in Oregon—I have no "agents": Jno. M. Bacon, P. M., Oregon City; E. M. Waite, Salem; A. Jennings, engineer O. & C. R. R., and many others.

DR. HALPRUNER

Has removed his office to his residence, Eighth and Market streets. Persons can have their feet treated at their residence or hotel, by dropping a postal card, or leaving word at C. H. Woodard's drug store, or at the clothing store of Mr. J. Kohn.

LOUISIANA.

Telegram to Packard.

NEW ORLEANS, March 13.—The following is the supplemented dispatch referred to in the Washington telegrams of yesterday:

WASHINGTON, March 27.

HON. S. B. PACKARD, New Orleans: In reply to your dispatch to the President I have to say, the dispatch to Gen. Auger of yesterday was not intended to interfere with the situation, but to preserve peace and obtain information. (Signed) G. W. McCRARY, Secretary of War.

Object of the Louisiana Commission.

NEW YORK, March 29.—The Tribune's Washington special says it is reported that the President conceived the plan of sending the commission to Louisiana before his inauguration, and now, while he is at times willing to be influenced by the advice of his cabinet, he will act for himself when these fail to be agreeable. The gentlemen who have been selected will be sent to New Orleans with instructions to endeavor to induce both parties to agree to a reconciliation of the Legislature. It is proposed that the members of both branches whose seats are uncontested and whose election is conceded by all, shall pass upon the contested cases, and that the Legislature so constituted shall, under the Constitution and laws of Louisiana canvass the vote of the State for Governor. Such a Legislature, it is said, would have a nominal Republican majority on joint ballot of about 17. Of this majority nine would be conservative Republicans and would hold the balance of power. If the two parties decline to reorganize the Legislature, it is believed the President is determined to withdraw troops from the support of the Packard government, and to inform both parties that, having failed to accept a proper and fair adjustment proposed by the administration, the Federal troops can no longer be used to sustain any State government, and that the two pretended administrations must settle their own differences in their own way. If bloodshed should follow, the responsibility would rest upon the politicians of Louisiana, and not with the President. The cabinet is said to favor this plan, and there is scarcely a doubt that if the commission fail the plan will be adopted. Nicholls men here are very hopeful and conservative Republicans are getting disgusted with these chronic troubles in Louisiana.

Lamar has written the President a letter opposing the commission. There was great difficulty in securing the Louisiana commission, which will leave for Louisiana Monday. The President will prepare a letter of instruction defining the purpose of the appointment and the extent to which the commission is to go. The commission does not please Packard's friends. To-day Nichols telegraphed to a friend here to prevent the commission by all means.

Character of the Commission.

NEW YORK, March 29.—The Tribune editorially praises the commission as being composed of unexceptionable men.

The Sun's editorial says the eight to seven commission that made Hayes a fraudulent President is now to be followed by a four to one, or three to two commission in the Louisiana case. Hayes has got up a Louisiana commission of five members, all of whom, except Brown, are Republicans. It may be inferred, therefore, that the commission will stand four to one on such questions as come before it; but we presume Lawrence is an independent party man, and so the body may sometimes stand three to two. It is such a commission as a fraudulent President might be expected to get, and nobody can be disappointed with it. We are not surprised to learn from Washington that Hayes desires to confer with Wheeler before he makes out its construction.

The Herald's editorial says the President is to be congratulated on the excellence of the commission, which, though not strong, is an imposing body of men. Hayes was unquestionably embarrassed by the refusal of Wheeler to serve.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Two Times' Washington special praises the make-up of the Southern Commission.

Riotous Demonstration.

The World's New Orleans special says Packard's address of yesterday was followed by a riotous demonstration on the part of the negroes of Algiers suburbs to the number of several hundred. They were easily dispersed by the police without resort to force or firearms.

A correspondent at Milton, Oregon, gives the Walla Walla Statesman the result of two years' experience in hop culture. He started with twenty hills, and let them run. He picked six hills getting sixteen pounds of hops, and sold the same to the "Eagle Brewery." The next year he estimated them and from twenty hills got forty pounds, for which Mr. John H. Stahl, of the "City Brewery," paid him at the rate of twenty cents a pound. Encouraged by his success, our correspondent this spring put in ten acres of land in hops, and if the season is favorable he may reasonably expect to make a big thing out of his hop crop.

The Mountain Sentinel gives an account of the burning of the Northwestern Stage Company's stables at Pelican, 12 miles from La Grande, on the 17th instant. The building was entirely consumed together with about 20 tons of timothy hay, 2,500 pounds grain and one set of harness, and numerous small articles. The origin of the fire seems to have been purely accidental. The loss to the stage company will approximate something near $1,200. We understand Mr. Boomer has ordered a bill of lumber and proposes to replace the stables at once.

Mr. Connell, of Rockland, met with a painful accident a few days ago from a kick by a young horse. No bones were broken, however, and Mr. Connell is again able to be around.

Deal Gently with the Stomach.

Do not rack it with violent purgatives, or permanently impair its tone with indigestible drugs of any kind; but, if your digestion is impaired, your liver out of order, your frame debilitated, or nervous system unstrung use that wholesome and agreeable alterative and tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will certainly afford you the desired relief. None of the official remedies can compare with it in restorative efficacy, and as a medicinal stimulant it is by far the most desirable as well as popular article of its class. Its basis, the essential principle of sound rye, is the best possible agent for hastening the action of the botanic ingredients which it holds in solution, and those ingredients are the most efficacious which chemistry extracts from the vegetable kingdom, and medical science applies to the cure of disease.

Upon the Health of the Teeth

Depends the purity of the breath. Preserve them unblemished by the use of the famous SOZODONT, that perfectly harmless vegetable preparation, and you will never regret it.

More than 50 years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefited by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Ayer's Purgative Anti-Bilious Pills.

sidered one of the staunchest in the Church, now is the first to shirk from his duty," I said. "Brethren, the Lord must harden my heart before I can do such a thing." Allen said it is not wicked to obey counsel. At this juncture I withdrew—walked off some fifty paces and prostrated myself on the ground and wept in the bitterest anguish of my soul, and asked the Lord to avert the evil. While in that situation Dodrue or C. Hopkins, a near friend of mine, came to me and said: "Bro. Lee, come get up and don't draw off from the priesthood. You ought not to do so. You are only endangering your own life by standing out. You can't help it; if this is wrong—the blame won't rest on you." I said, "Charley, this is the worst move this people ever made, I feel it." He said, "Come, go back, and let them have their way." I went back, weeping like a child, and took my place and tried to be silent, and was until Higbee said they (the emigrants) must be decoyed out through pretended friendship. I could no longer hold my peace, and said it, "Joseph Smith said that God hated a traitor, and so do I. Before I would be a traitor I would rather take ten men and go to that camp and tell them just what must die and how to defend themselves, and give them a show for their lives; that would be more honorable than to betray them like Judas." Here I got other reproof, and was ordered to hold my peace.

THE PLAN ARRANGED FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF THE EMIGRANTS.

The plan agreed upon there was to meet them with a flag of truce, let them think the Indians were determined on their destruction, that we were not oppose the Indians, for we were at their mercy; that the best we could do for them (the emigrants) was to get them and what few traps we could take in the wagons to lay their arms in the bottom of the wagons, and cover them up with bed clothes, and start for the settlement as soon as possible, and to trust themselves in our hands. The small children and wounded were to go with the two wagons, the women to follow the wagons and the men mess, the troops to stand in readiness on the east side of the road ready to receive them. Stuntz and Nephi Johnson were to conceal the Indians in the brush and rocks till the company was strung out on the road to a certain point, and at the watchword "Halt! do your duty!" each man was to cover his victim and Lee, Johnson and Shurtz were to rally the Indians, and rush upon and dispatch the women and larger children.

CELESTIAL REWARDS PROMISED THE FAITHFUL.

I was further told the men that President Haight said that if we were not in carrying out the instructions we would receive a "celestial reward." I said I was willing to put up with a less reward, if I could be excused. "How can you do this without shedding innocent blood?" Here I got another lambasting for my stubbornness and disobedience to the priesthood. I was told that there was not a drop of innocent blood in the whole company of emigrants, also referred to the Gentile nation who refused to children of Israel passage through their country when Moses led them out of Egypt—that the Lord heard that crime against them, and when Israel wanted strength the Lord commanded Joshua to slay the whole nation, men, women and children. "Have not these people done worse than that to us? Have they not threatened to murder the leaders and Prophet, and have they not boasted of murdering our Patriarchs and Prophets Joseph and Hiram? Now will ghost shedding innocent blood." They said I was a mean, liberal, free-hearted man, for no person of this sympathy would be allowed in the city that ever man now had a power his power; that it was not safe to have a man in camp. Then it was proposed I could every man express himself that if there was a man who would not keep a close mouth he must be known to them. This gave me to understand what I might expect if I continued to oppose. Major Higbee said: "Let it right. Let him take an example to the people." I knew I dare not oppose, and every man speak and express himself. At last they were willing to carry out a part of the measure; that the Indians were right from they old.

THE WHOLE AFFAIR IN AND SOLD IN THE CONSPIRACY.

They then wanted to know my feelings. I told them, "I have already expressed them." "Then you were upon me as I paused; but, said I, "You can do as you please; I will not oppose you any longer." "If you keep a close mouth," was the question. "I will," was my answer. I will here say that the fear of mobs, Brigham Young and Heber C. Kimball, in Parowan, under the influence of Isaac C. Haight, in Iron, but if this I have given my autobiography.

CLEARING OUT THE PLAIN—HOW THE EMIGRANTS WERE BROUGHT TO THEIR DEATH.

The morning all was ready, and every man repaired to his post of duty. During the night or rather just before day, Johnson and Klingensmith had their Indians the better to receive the emigrants. About 11 o'clock the troops, under Major Higbee, took their position on the road. The white flag was still kept up in the corral. Higbee called William Aden out of the ranks to take a flag of truce to the corral. He was met about half way with another white flag from the emigrants' camp. They had a talk. The emigrants were told we had come to rescue them. They were willing to trust us. Both white flags suspended to wait respective camps. They did so, and were to meet again in a short time. Higbee rode, me out to go with them the conditions, and, I think, Wm. McFarland, brother to John McFarland, was the answer, who acted as aid-de-camp, carrying word, and then two wagons were sent for the firearms, guilt from the camp. I swayed, and the temptation was strong, but not without a struggle. I had so little to say as possible—my tongue refused to perform its office. I sat down on the ground in the corral, while some young men were amusing themselves playing the same respects to some persons who were just dead of a wound. A large, dark, tall, burly ruffian two me twice and talked with them. The relator their troubles and the cause of their number were killed, and also wounded on Lee first attack; Higbee and first shot. Lee asked me if I knew the first agent. I said: "In one sense I do, as a government has appointed me agent for the emigrants." "Do, bro. this to mind," I heard after word that the same question was asked and answered in the same manner by McFarland, who had been sent by Higbee to the corral, to hurry me up for fear, that the Indians would come back and be upon them.

LEAD IN THE EMIGRANT CAMP.

When all was ready Samuel McMurdy, Contending to Elisha K. Smith (Klingensmith), drove out on the lead. His wagon had the seventeen children, clothing and arms. Samuel Knight drove the other team, with five women and men and one boy about 15 years of age. I walked behind the front wagon to direct the course, and to shun being in the wagon with them, but the I kept to my self. When we got started fairly to the east I motioned to McMurdy to steer north, across the valley. I at the same time told the women who were next to the wagon, to follow the road up to the troops, which they did. Instead of my saying to McMurdy not to drive so fast as he swore on trial—I said to the contrary, to drive on, as my aim was to get out of sight before the firing commenced, which we did.

THE MASSACRE—REVOLTING SCENES.

We were about half a mile ahead of the company when we heard the first firing. We had drove over a ridge of rolling ground, and down on a low flat. The firing was simultaneous along the whole line. The moment the firing commenced McCurdy halted and tied his lines across the top of his wagon box, stepped down coolly with a double barreled shotgun, walked back to Knight's wagon—who had the wounded men, and was about twenty feet from me. As he raised his piece he said, "Lord, my God, receive their spirits, for it is for the Kingdom of Heaven's sake that we do this," fired and killed two men, Samuel Knight had a muzzle loading rifle, and as quick as killed the three men, then struck the wounded boy on the head who fell dead. In the meantime I drew a five shooter from my belt, which accidentally went off, cutting Daniel McCurdy's buckskin vests in front, below the crotch. McMurdy said, "Brother Lee, you are scared; take things cool; you was near killing me. Lee where the ball cut," pointing to the place on his pants.

CHILDREN SNATCHED FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH.

At this moment I heard the scream of a child. I looked up and saw an Indian have a little boy by the hair of his head, dragging him out of the hind end of the wagon, with a knife in his hand, getting ready to cut his throat. I sprang for the Indian, with my revolver in hand, and shouted to the top of my voice, "Arick, looma, not too soon" (stop, you fool). The child was terror-stricken. His chin was bleeding. I supposed it was the cut of a knife, but afterward learned that it was done on the wagon box as the Indian yanked the boy down by the hair of the head. I had no sooner rescued this child, than another Indian seized a little girl by the hair. I rescued her as soon as I could speak; I told the Indians that they must not hurt the children—that I would die before they should be hurt; that we would buy the children of them. Before this time the Indians had rushed up around the wagon in quest of blood, and dispatched the two runaway wounded men.

LEE'S DEMORALIZATION—THE ROAD STREWN WITH THE DEAD.

In justice to my statement, I would say that if my shooter had not prematurely exploded I would have had a hand in dispatching the five wounded. I had lost control of myself, and scarce knew what I was about. I saw an Indian pursue a little girl who was fleeing. He caught her about one hundred feet from the wagon, and plunged his knife through her. I said to McMurdy that he had better drive the children to Hamblin's ranch and give them some nourishment, while I would go down and get my horse at the camp. Passing along the road I saw the dead strung along the distance of about half a mile. The women and children were killed by the Indians. I saw Shurtz with the Indians, and no other white man with them. When I came to the men they lay about a rod apart. Here I came up with Higbee, Bishop Smith and the rest of the company. As I came up, Higbee said to me, let us scare these persons for valuables, and asked me to assist him. Gave me a hat to hold. Several men were already engaged in searching the bodies. I replied that I was unwell, and wanted to get upon my horse and go to the ranch and nurse myself. My request was granted.

DAME AND HAIGHT QUARREL.

Reaching Hamblin's ranch—being heart-sick and worn out—I lay down on my saddle blanket and slept, and knew but little of what passed through the night. About daybreak in the morning I heard the voices of Col. Dame and Isaac C. Haight. I heard some very angry words pass between them, which drew my attention. Dame said that he would have to report the destruction of the emigrant camp and the company. Haight said, "How—as an Indian massacre?" Dame said he did not know so well about that. This reply seemed to irritate Haight, who spoke quite loudly saying, "How the h—ll can you report it any other way without implicating yourself?" At this Dame lowered his voice almost to a whisper, I could not understand what he said, and the conversation stopped.

SOME OF THE SURVIVORS OF THE MASSACRE.

I got up, saw the children, and among the others the boy who was pulled by the hair of the head out of the wagon by the Indian—and saved by me. That boy I took home and kept home until Dr. Forney, Government agent, came to gather up the children and take them East. He took the boy with others. That boy's name was William Fancher. His father was Captain of the train. He was taken East and adopted by a man in Nebraska, named Richard Sloan. He remained East several years, and then returned to Utah; and is now a convict in the Utah penitentiary, having been convicted the past year for the crime of highway robbery. He is now known by the name of "Idaho Bill," but his true name is William Fancher. His little sister was also taken East, and is now the wife of a mad working for the Union Pacific Railroad Co., near Green river. The boy (now man) has yet got he scar on his chin caused by the cut on the wagon box, and those who are curious enough to examine will find a large scar on the ball of his left foot, caused by a deep cut made with an ax while he was with me.

BURYING THE SLAIN—CONDITION OF THE BODIES.

I got breakfast that morning, then all hands returned to the scene of the slaughter to bury the dead. The bodies were all in a nude state. The Indians, through the night, had stripped them of every vestige of clothing. Many of the parties were laughing and talking as they carried the bodies to the ravine for burial. They were just covered over a little, but did not long remain so, for the wolves dug them up, and, after eating the flesh from them, the bones laid upon the ground until buried, some time after, by a Government officer.

DAME AND SON STRICKEN—HE HAS ANOTHER QUARREL WITH HAIGHT.

At the time of burying the bodies Dame and Haight got into another quarrel. Dame seemed terror stricken, and again said he would have to publish it. They were about two paces from me. Dame spoke low, as if careful to avoid being heard. Haight spoke loud, and said: "You know that you counseled it, and ordered me to have them used up." Dame said: "I did not think that there were so many women and children. I thought they were nearly all killed by the Indians." He then said: "It is too late in the day for you to back water. You know you ordered and counseled it, and now you want to back out." Dame said: "Have you he papers for that?" or, "Show the papers for that." This enraged Haight to the highest pitch, and Dame walked off. He said: "You throw the blame of this thing on me, and I will be revenged on you, if I have to meet you in hell to get it." From this place we rode to the wagons. We found them stripped of their covers and every particle of clothing, even the feather beds had been ripped open and the contents turned out upon the ground, looking for plunder. I crossed the mountains by Indian trail—taking my Ute Indian boy with me on my horse. The gathering up of the property and cattle was left in the charge of Bishop P. K. Smith. The testimony of Smith in regard to the property and the disposition that was made of it was very nearly correct. I must not forget to state that after the attack a messenger by the name of James Haslem was sent with a dispatch to President Brigham Young, asking his advice about interfering with the company, but he did not return in time. This I had no knowledge of until the massacre was committed.

Some two weeks after the deed was done, Isaac C. Haight sent me to report to Governor Young in person. I asked him why he did not send a written report. He replied that I could tell him more satisfactorily than he could write, and if I would stand up and shoulder as much of the responsibility as I could conveniently that it would be a feather in my cap some day, and that I would get a celestial salvation, but the man that shrunk from it now would go to hell. I went and did as I was commanded. Brigham asked me if Isaac C. Haight had written a letter to him. I replied not by me; but I said he wished me to report in person. "All right," said Brigham. "Were you an eye witness?" "To the most of it," was my reply. Then I proceeded and gave him a full history of all, except it at of my opposition. That, I left out entirely. I told him of the killing of the women and children, and the betraying of the company; that I told him I was opposed to it; but I did not say to him to what extent I was opposed to it, only that I was opposed to shedding innocent blood. "Why," said he, "you differ from Isaac (Haight), for he said there was not a drop of innocent blood in the whole company."

HOW BRIGHAM YOUNG RECEIVED THE NEWS.

When I was through he said that it was awful; that he cared nothing about the men, but the women and children was what troubled him. I said, "President Young, you should either release men from their obligation, or sustain them when they do what they have entered into the most sacred obligation to do." He replied, "I will think over the matter and make it a subject of prayer, and you may come back in the morning and see me." I did so. He said, "John, I feel first rate. I asked the Lord if it was all right for the deed to be done, to take away the vision of the deed from my mind, and the Lord did so, and I feel first rate. It is all right. The only fear I have is of traitors." He told me never to lisp it to any mortal being, not even to Bro. Heber. President Young has always treated me with the friendship of a father since, and has sealed several women to me since, and has made my home his home when in that part of the Territory—until danger has threatened him. This is a true statement according to my best recollection. JOHN D. LEE.

LEE'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY AND ITS STARTLING REVELATIONS.

This statement I have made for publication after my death, and have agreed with a friend to have the same, with very many facts pertaining to other matters connected with the crimes of the Mormon people, under the leadership of the priesthood, from a period before the butchery of Nauvoo to the present time, published for the benefit of my family, and that the world may know the black deeds that have marked the way of the Saints from the organization of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, to the period when a weak and too pliable tool lays down his pen to face the executioners' guns for deeds which he is not more guilty than others who to-day are wearing the garments of the priesthood and living upon the "tithings" of a deluded and priest-ridden people. My autobiography, if published, will open the eyes of the world to the monstrous deeds of the Mormon people, and will also place in the hands of the attorney for the government the particulars of some of the most blood-curdling crimes that have been committed in Utah, while in, if properly followed up, will bring many down from their high place in the church to face offended justice upon the gallows. So mote it be.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

THURSDAY EVENING, March 29, 1877.

In local circles the day affords but little of a purely financial character for comment. Bankers and brokers are doing a moderate amount of business, mostly in some way connected with the spring settlements and the assistance of new enterprises or such as are incident to the season. Rates for loans and discounts have undergone no change which might be called general in character, but we hear occasionally of the offer of large sums at slightly reduced rates. The inquiry, however, does not embrace many calls for such sums, and while tens of thousands might be had at 9@20 per cent. per annum, less amounts are let only at the usual rate of about 1 per cent. a month. The supply of coin seems adequate to meet all legitimate inquiry.

New York Weather, Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The third day of the storm again prevented any business being done at vessels loading for California, and the result is a falling off in freights. There has, however, been considerable inquiry for room in the several vessels loading, and the promise is that when the weather clears there will be some days of activity. Rates of freight, however, tend downward, and a fair rate to-day will be on a basis of 20s 6d per weight. Vessels having received loading of ships there will be only one further departure from this port this month, namely, Gen. McClellan will sail on the 15th April. Agents are still in the market looking after further tonnage, and to-day the bark Reynard, 1,029 tons, formerly the ship of that name and well known in California trade were taken to follow the Palestine now loading at Boston. The ship Tam O'Shanter under engagement to load a general cargo at Philadelphia. Railroad and steamer freights quiet to-day. Rumor has it that one of the transit lines is again cutting rates, but this could not be confirmed. Two new steamboats to run in San Francisco bay are nearly completed, and it is expected will be ready for shipment next week. It is understood they will be forwarded overland in sections. In Wall street to-day, Pacific Mail stock did not respond to the statement made last evening as to the condition of the company and closed at 20. The merchandise markets quiet owing to the storm: hides very quiet, prices in buyers favor; petroleum weaker; spirits turpentine dull at 37½@38; rosins easier; strained, 2 05@2 12½; refined sugar ¼ cent lower: wool s, no spring California have arrived, for which holders ask 18@25, and samples shown are heavy and very hurry. Few sales of old spring have been made as yet 22c; a lot of 209 bales recently held at 23, has been sold at 22½; quicksilver dull at 48s50; hops depressed; California move slowly, quoted at 10@15. Dry Goods, cottons inactive; prices nominal; prints moderate demand; woolens dull; foreign goods limited request.

J. S. MARSHAL'S NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT by virtue of an execution and order of sale, issued out of the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, to me directed and delivered, commanding me to sell the following described mortgaged property, situated in Yamhill county, State of Oregon, to wit: Beginning at a point north eighty three degrees, east seven chains and fifty links, distant from a point thirteen chains and eighty links, south of the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section thirty-four, in township four south, range four west of the Willamette meridian; running thence south eighty-three degrees west, one hundred and three chains and fifty links, thence south eighteen degrees and thirty minutes east twenty-nine chains and twenty links, thence east twenty-three chains and thirty links, thence south twenty-three degrees, east forty chains, thence south seventy-two degrees, east twelve chains and fifty links, thence north seventy-three degrees, east seventy-one chains, thence north twenty-three degrees and thirty minutes, west sixty-four chains and ninety links to the place of beginning, containing 640 91-100 acres.

Also the following described premises, to wit: Beginning at the southeast corner of that certain donation land claim known and designated on the maps and plats of the United States government surveys as the donation land claim of Richard Booth and his wife Margaret, and running thence west twenty four chains and eighty links to the west boundary line of the said Booth's claim, and the boundary line between said Booth's claim and the claim of C. B. Hawley, thence south on said line two chains, thence west to the center of the Yamhill river, thence down the center of said river to a point where the east boundary line of said Booth's claim crosses said river, thence south on said east boundary line to the place of beginning containing 42 59 100 acres.

Also the following described premises, to wit: Beginning at the southeast corner of that certain land claim situate in township five south, range four west of the Willamette meridian, known and designated in the government surveys as claim numbered seventy-two, and running thence north twenty-three degrees and thirty minutes west, nineteen chains and fifty links, thence south seventy-five degrees and thirty minutes west, eleven chains and forty links, thence south four degrees and thirty minutes west, twenty-nine chains, thence north eighty-five degrees and thirty minutes west, twenty-seven chains and sixty links, thence south four degrees and thirty minutes west five chains, thence west seventy-nine chains and eight links, thence north twelve chains, thence east twenty-seven chains and fifty links, thence south seventy degrees and thirty minutes east twelve chains, thence north seventy-three degrees east, seventy-one chains to the place of beginning, containing 158 acres.

Also the following described premises, to wit: Beginning at a point north fourteen degrees, east forty-five chains from the southeast corner of that certain land claim situate in township five south, range four west of the Willamette meridian, and known and designated upon the maps and plats of the government surveys as the land claim of Charles M. Johnson, and running thence north fourteen degrees east thirty five chains and thirteen links, thence north four degrees west, thirteen chains and fifty four links, thence west fifty-one chains and twenty links, thence south nine degrees west, seventeen chains and seventy links, thence south fifty six degrees and thirty minutes east, fifty-five chains and fifty one links to the place of beginning, containing 175 10-100 acres.

Or so much thereof as may be sufficient to raise the amount due to the plaintiffs from the defendant Jane Armstrong, and interest thereon, and for special attorney's fees, and for costs and disbursements herein and the expenses of sale, in accordance with a judgment and decree entered on the 10th day of April, A. D. 1876, in said court, in favor of the Oregon and Washington Trust Investment Company, limited, and against Jane Armstrong, in a cause wherein the Oregon and Washington Trust Investment Company, limited, were plaintiffs, and Jane Armstrong et al were defendants.

I will on the 19th of April, A. D. 1877, at the hour of one o'clock P. M. of said day, in front of the Court House door in the town of Lafayette, county of Yamhill, District of Oregon, proceed to sell the said described property, for cash in hand, in U. S. gold coin, excepting one hundred and fourteen acres of said land sold by Jane Armstrong to Joseph Watt and conveyed by deed dated the 27th day of March, A. D. 1876, and which has been released from the effects of said decree.

Ordinance No. 1941

AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE TIME and manner of improving Stark street from the west line of Fourth street to the west line of Sixth street.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. The proposed improvement of Stark street from the west line of Fourth street to the west line of Sixth street shall be carried as hereinafter provided on or before the 16th day of May 1877.

Section 2. The surface of the street shall be cleared of all timber, plank or other obstructions, (sidewalks of the proper width and grade, and otherwise in good condition excepted.) The obstructions are not removed within three days after notice from the Superintendent of Streets they shall be removed by and become the property of the contractor.

Section 3. The roadway shall be graded to the depth of 12 inches at the center of the street and 20 inches at the gutters; a foundation course of boulder stone shall be spread evenly over the surface; a thickness of 12 inches at the center line of the street and gradually diminishing to 8 inches at the gutters; the stone shall be broken upon the ground and shall not exceed 12 inches in largest diameter. Upon the foundation course of broken stone a layer of gravel or crushed stone shall be evenly spread to a thickness of 6 inches at the center and 2 inches at the gutters; the street shall then be opened for travel for 10 days, when a second layer of gravel or crushed stone shall be evenly spread of such thickness as will bring the surface of the street to grade. The bottom layer shall be stone of good quality, free from cobbles or coarse gravel, the top course shall be of clean gravel or crushed stone, none of which shall be of more than 2 inches in diameter, and free from loam or other impurities except clean sharp sand.

Section 4. The improvement shall also consist of laying curbs and crosswalks where necessary, by replacing the same, the lumber and material to be used to conform to the provisions of sections 11 and 12 of Ordinance No. 783.

Section 5. The contractor shall take entire charge of the work during its progress, and shall be responsible for any loss or accident resulting from carelessness or neglect.

Section 6. The Committee on Streets and Public Property are hereby authorized to advertise for, receive proposals and enter into contract with the lowest responsible bidder or bidder for the improvement specified in this Ordinance.

Section 7. This improvement shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Committee on Streets and Public Property and the Superintendent of Streets.

Passed the Common Council March 26, 1877.

W. S. CALDWELL, Auditor and Clerk.

Approved March 28, 1877. J. A. C
